Arguments and Organization for the Campaign

[From the Sacramento Union.]

The nomination of Grant was an accepted fact many months before the Chicago Convention assembled. Hence the clamor now that the enemies of the Republican party have been showering upon him an unmerited abuse. It is on the platform that the Democratic tricksters are most bitterly bespattered and their principles of straw set up and so basely belabored as those sure to be declared at Chicago in the name of the Republicans of the United States are now nowhere visible. All their breath has been wasted on shadows and the tangible thing presented them to combat is so full of wisdom and stalwart growth as to fill not the opposition will hardly have ground on which to base a respectable argument. The suffrage question has been disposed of in a way which at once respects the sovereign rights of the States over that question and protects loyal men at the South and guarantees the nation against the possibility of future rebellion. On the payment of the national debt and the question of taxation the Convention took the exact course which the vast majority of the people desired. They are forever serving the honor of the country and its credit unimpaired at home and abroad; but at the same time for leaving something of the burthens of debt necessarily entailed upon the nation by the war upon the shoulders of posterity who are to mainly reap the blessings which its success insures. These are the three questions now most prominent before the American people. We do not see how the disposition made of them by the Convention could have been improved either to the satisfaction of abstract justice or of the popular wishes. On two of these leading principles the Democracy are sure to join issue with us; that relating to suffrage and that relating to the honest and faithful payment of the national debt without quibble or resort to any overt form of repudiation in whole or in part. They will make the attempt to show that the only parties to be benefited by this good faith to the bondholders of the nation are the aristocrats; and they will not in the campaign as they have not before the nominations were made hesitate to stir up the poorer classes against the rich tempting them with the false hope that the election of a Democratic President will rid the country of taxation or at least alleviate its burdens. We need not say to any thinking person that such an event by degrading the credit of the nation would have the directly opposite effect. As to the assertion that none but aristocrats are bondholders that is simply false. Some time ago this charge was refuted by the New York Evening Post which made the statement that "very few of the leading, rich men of our large cities wealthy enough to be styled aristocrats own any Government bonds at all and that 'most of the bonds owned in this country are deposited as securities by the National Banks or held as investments by the saving banks marine fire and life insurance companies and trust estates." On this statement the Tribune commenting a short time after, said: "Our very rich men do not deposite in saving banks and seldom insure their lives or property. Statistics were given which show that the number of depositors in these New York savings banks whose savings are dependent on and secured by the national bonds is 488,501. The amount of bonds required to secure their deposits is over $100,000,000. The number of similar depositors in Massachusetts is 316,000 and the amount of bonds to secure their deposits $25,000,000. In the Middle States and in the West there is nearly the same proportion. Who are these depositors? The Tribune has gone to the trouble to look up their statistics and classify them. It says: "The most numerous class are domestics after which follow laborers seamstresses, clerks, tailors, waiters and cart-men. And we are told that it is safe to say about half the national debt or two thirds of that portion of it held in this country is held by the working classes and poor men." In other words the mechanics sewing women domestics small farmers and day laborers of the United States are the aristocrats who hold over $1,000,000,000 of Government bonds which it is the policy of the Democratic party in part to repudiate or at least to greatly depreciate, by making the interest payable in currency instead of coin. The Republicans at Chicago have solemnly declared that the faith of the nation shall not be broken with those poor people who came forward with their small earnings, and bought its bonds when the credit of the United States stood so much in need of their confidence.

These aristocratic bondholders number more than four or five millions of the loyal people. They need only to be made to understand their own true interests to be enrolled with the Grand Clubs which will soon spring into existence all over the country. These Clubs ought soon to be organized here and everywhere on this coast. Nothing is ever lost by thorough organization. Presidential elections are never won by modest effort. The people need stirring up. The principles at issue are worth all the pains we can take to secure their success. We advise the earliest possible and most thorough organization on something like the plan which carried us to easy victory here and in Oregon and Nevada in 1864. The nominations are the best men of the nation. They are received with universal encomium and the platform on which they have been placed is all that wisdom and sound policy could desire. Yet with all these advantages in our favor it will not do to stand still or keep quiet or all we popular enthusiasm to abate.

California owes the abolition of its state geological survey, which was making successful and commendable progress under able direction to its Democratic Legislature, and its State Academy of Sciences has already passed resolutions of severe and merited censure on its action. Ohio owes the pending bill disfranchising all college and seminary students in the State, except those of institutions in towns where they reside to its Democratic Legislature and it is estimated that the eighteen chartered colleges and seminaries in the State fully ten thousand students will thus be deprived of the franchise and debarred from citizenship until they have complied their studies. New Jersey owes to her Democratic Legislature the repeal of the registry law and the consequent closing law and in consequence a fair and just election is utterly impossible in the State. These are but specimens of the whole course of legislation in these States for the session. Are the experiments satisfactory and is there sufficient inducement to continue Democratic supremacy where it exists or give it control of the national government in the next presidential election? Don't we know them sufficiently by their fruits?—Springfield Republican.

No Fool.—If the New York Herald is right in attributing the smart sayings in "Behind the Scenes" to Mrs Lincoln that lady is a person of more shrewdness than she had had credit for. Of Seward she is reported to have said to the President: "I wish you had nothing to do with that man. He cannot be trusted. And, again, Seward is worse than Chase: he has no principle." When Andrew Johnson was about to be made Military Governor of Tennessee she remarked fiercely: "He is a demagogue. If you place him in power Mr Lincoln mark my words you will rue the day." She remarked of General McClellan: "He is a humbug." When asked why she said so she replied: "Because he talks so much and does so little. If I only could hit upon a humbug and you will have to find some man to take his place—that is if you don't conquer the South."

Japanese scissors are in the shape of our sugar tongs of steel—and saver articles freely as the blades approximate by pressure. Their looking glasses are highly burnished steel. They use a very elastic transparent silk paper in window frames instead of glass and a more firm opaque substance of the same, stretched on frames, as partitions inside their dwellings.

Grant for President

The following is an extract from a letter written by Hon. R. T. Van Horn member of Congress from Missouri in response to an invitation to address the Grant Club of Kansas City.

I am glad to see what you are moving in favor of a General Convention at Kansas City. The town in Missouri next in rebel possession is the fitting place to lead in behalf of the soldier who never suffered a defeat.

You but anticipate the voice of Missouri and the nation in declaring for Ulysses S. Grant as the next President of the United States.

It sometimes happens in history that a single man becomes the pivot upon which great epochs turn and upon whom depends the success or failure of great policies. It was so with Washington—it is so with Grant.

The rebellion gave us many Generals each in turn the anxious looked for rebel who was to lead the nation out of its trials to triumph and safety only to again disappoint the people's hope. But in the silent soldier of Belmont lay the force that was to crush that rebellion and give a new lease of life to the Republic. Away on the extreme right wing, with a handful of men, in a subordinate command commenced that remarkable career which by force of action alone grew into the control of events and the conduct of the war. We all remember how many high sounding reputations were placed over him but the quiet, reticent subaltern became, despite all the obstacles, the central figure. Henry, Donelson Shiloh, Vicksburg, recognized the Mississippi, and then from Missionary Ridge and Lookout Mountain, his eyes were first turned upon the whole field of the war and after confidence and victory succeeded confusion, despondency and defeat.

In all this wonderful career we heard nothing of Grant save in his battles; nothing from him except in his bulletins. He spoke only of his orders and announced his campaigns by his victories.

So it is to day. We have no high sounding speeches no presumptuous manifestoes, no egotistical utterances. Only in the regular and legitimate performance of duties imposed does he speak and then just as he fought—timely, and with nothing left to be regretted or desired.

* * * * * * *

The great masses of the people—the loyal people—want patriotism his common sense his perfect freedom from personal ambition, his magnanimity his utter detestation of dishonesty in everything, and his unborn and thorough American character at the head of the nation to bring it to its moorings. And they will have him there.

All the flurry about wanting to know where he stands is but the protest of expiring rivalry. Away down in the great popular heart it is known where he stands—the people know it, and they make Presidents. Grant is not to be measured by the standard of politicians. It may be necessary for men who change with election returns to declare where they stand; but not with the man who has stood where Grant has all through the fiery trial in which he has been tested.

Let men seek professions gotten up for the occasion as ardently as might be well to reflect—to think of the one man who never recognize the Presidential chair. Were ever professions so full, so oft repeated so incessantly dinned in the ears of the people until they drowned everything else, and he was taken solely and only upon them?

I am tired of praters, and if General Grant to day stood plastered over with letters, speeches, and promises to any party in view of all the circumstances this letter had not been written in his favor.

He is heart and soul with the men who crushed the rebellion and who are trying to keep it so. He recognizes the obligations of law and the rights of the people. I firmly believe that his administration will bring peace quiet, order, prosperity and perpetuity to our Union—that by the time it is ended our difficulties will be forgotten that we will have entered upon an era of good feeling and upon whom depends the success or failure of great policies. It was so with Washington and a broad Catholic Democracy will be the real principle animating the nation, and a new career of glory and power have dawned upon the Republic. So believing, I am for Grant.

Quarts Interests of Southern Oregon

[From the Jacksonville Sentinel.]

Mining for the Lucky Gulch ledge was suspended for a short time last Monday after a run of two hundred and six tons of having been assertained that the tons could be worked more profitably by assorting it at the mine, so as to reduce the amount to be milled nearly one half. Meanwhile the mill has been kept running on rock from other ledges. Three tons from Ivey mine in Sterling has been milled and yielded fifty dollars per ton. Twenty tons from the Rising Star owned by Messrs Funk, Cummins and Palmer has been milled and yielded fully nine dollars to the ton. This ledge is situated on the south fork of Jacksons creek about three miles from town and can be profitably worked with our present facilities. We understand that work up on this ledge will be resumed at once. The mill is now at work on ore from the Blue Ledge owned by Messrs Mead Brooks, Smith and Howard. This ledge is situated under the old Holman ledge just above Kanaka Flat and is easily mined. The indications are that a good working yield will be obtained from the test now being made.

Messrs Brown Parsons and Brooks are reopening the old mine on the old Richardson ledge with the view to test it by mill process. A good working yield is confidently expected and we think reasonably so. Neuber and Boushey will soon commence prospecting the Baeur ledge, by mill process also. This ledge bids fair to be richer than any yet tried. The Howard and Payne edge on Brush creek, near the old mine of Fowler Gibson and Anderson on upper Applegate creek is now open and without question would pay well for working, but means are wanted to enable the owners to give it a practical test. The Gold Hill Company contemplate milling some of their quartz soon—Ish lead—and we hope to see their ledge take rank again among the richest in the world.

The Volcano at Mauna Loa.

From the Honolulu Commercial Advertiser of May 2d we get the following:

On Tuesday morning April 28th a new cone was discovered on the summit of Mauna Loa north of and near the crater of Mokuaweowea, which must have been thrown up within a day or two previous. This cone was thought to be five or six hundred feet high and is probably a tufa or sand cone similar to those found so frequently on Mauna Loa and Hualalai. These cones are frequently raised by a powerful jet of gas or steam issuing through a fissure in the rock, through which sand and fine scoria are thrown out forming a conical mound. Their formation does not necessarily indicate the presence of molten lava in the vicinity though they show a connection more or less remote with the internal fires.

From Kilauea we learn that the fire is returning to the old crater and some action has again appeared which renders it probable that this will remain as before the seat of active lava fires. Some have supposed that because the fires had become extinct in it this old crater would not in future be worthy of the notice of visitors. The probability is that it will again become as active as in former years.

The steamer brings no important advices about the eruption all was quiet. The facts regarding Nukupili between Richardson's and K

James Buchanan is dead His country will forever have reason to wish we say it with no rancor,—that he had never been born

No man will make any attack on him in memory in a spirit of malignancy nevertheless the American people remembering his name and having unhappy cause to forever remember it, will not hesitate to speak the truth with dignity and soberness concerning him and his actions The people owe it to themselves and their country to remember him as he was and to judge him and his acts only by the results he was instrumental in producing The future safety of the country depends to a great extent on the people remembering these things and avoiding the terrible errors to call them by no harsher name which he laid down as the principles of our Government, and which he applied in its administration until it was brought to the verge of ruin When James Buchanan became President it was in his power to have moderated between parties, and to have acted in such a manner as to prevent a general resort to arms He could, by the simple exercise of his constitutional powers, have killed effectually that savage faction which sought the destruction of the Republic, and which openly avowed its purpose in so bold a manner that his duty as Executive could not for a moment be mistaken. Washington and Jackson had both shown him the way to act with avowed traitors. But Mr. Buchanan instead of crushing this faction, became its pliant and subservient tool Everything he could do to advance the interests of slavery and of open traitors was zealously done. He was their instrument in trying to force slavery on free territory, and when they were foiled in this endeavor and raised the standard of rebellion, he was as before, the pliant tool they used to carry out their designs Through him they employed the authority and power of the Government to destroy the nation He had ample warning, that he must immediately break out of the path of his duty or that step would be taken toward the end of his term of lawful authority. The army was used to promote places, and the navy was sent to the ends of the earth His Cabinet with a few good men

The Late Earthquakes at Sandwich Islands

[From the Honolulu Advertiser

We are sure that all those of our readers who were in Kau during the late series of earthquakes, will appreciate the truth of the following passage from Humboldt's Cosmos: "We are accustomed," he says, "from early childhood to draw a contrast between the mobility of water and the immobility of the soil on which we tread, and this feeling is confirmed by the evidence of our senses. When, therefore, we suddenly feel the ground move beneath us, a mysterious and natural force, with which we were previously unacquainted, is revealed as an active disturber of stability. A moment destroys the illusion of a whole life: our deceptive faith in the repose of nature vanishes, and we feel transported, as it were, into a realm of unknown destructive forces. Every sound—the faintest motion in the air—arrests our attention, and we no longer trust the ground on which we stand."

The time has not yet come, nor have sufficient facts been collected for a scientific discussion of the late earthquakes. When that time comes, we hope that such a report will be made by observers whose scientific training and experience have fitted them for the task. The only object of the writer is to throw out some crude suggestions, and perhaps to call the attention of observers on the ground to certain points on which information is wanted.

Our former earthquakes have scarcely lasted more than a few seconds, and have never been violent enough to cause any serious damage. There is certainly no record in history or in the traditions of the natives of any earthquake at all approaching to the last in violence. If such a catastrophe had taken place within the last two hundred years, the memory of it would certainly have been preserved by the hereditary historians and by the genealogies kept since 1832 by Rev. Mr. Bishop, of Hilo, the severest shock previous to the present year, was felt April 7th, 1841, when "the houses were thrown down, plastering fell, stone chimneys and china out of pans, and water out of casks to more than half full. Motion unusual in a north and south." This to some of our Ka-u readers will hardly seem worthy of being noticed as an earthquake at all. Another shock nearly as severe was felt February 19th, 1856. The arrival of few persons at Hilo has been three or four times a year.

The shock of the 2d instant will no doubt rank in violence among earthquakes of the first order. Great as has been the destruction of lives and property, it is yet small compared to what has been caused by similar earthquakes in other parts of the world. It was well for us that the chief force of the earthquake was experienced in the most thinly populated district of the Islands. If Ka-u had been as densely inhabited as Calabria, if instead of a few fishing villages composed of thatched huts, it had comprised large cities, solidly built with lofty edifices of brick and stone, the loss of life would have been appalling. The most destructive earthquake of modern times was probably that of Lisbon, in 1775, in which 60,000 people perished in six minutes. This dreadful shock occurred on All Saints' Day, when almost the whole population was in the churches, and no less than 30,000 persons were killed by the fall of these edifices. The most striking example on record of the terrible vertical shock, was the earthquake of Riobamba, in Equador, in 1797, when the bodies of many of the inhabitants were found to have been hurled to Cellca, a hill perhaps hundred feet in height, on the opposite side of the river Lioan.

There are many interesting questions of "earth quake mechanics" on which our last great earthquake will throw some light, one of which is the rate of motion of the earth-waves. The rate of motion of the Lisbon shock was ascertained to be 20 miles a minute, or 1,750 feet in a second. The earthquakes which traversed the United States in 1843 moved at the rate of from 32 to 34 miles in a minute. The last terrible earthquake in Calabria Ulterior, that of 1857, was carefully investigated by Mr. Robert Mallet, the highest living authority on such subjects, and author of a descriptive work on 7,000 earthquakes. He found the rate of velocity of the earth-waves to be from 700 to 1,000 feet per second, the latter velocity being equal to about twelve miles a minute.

The only datum we have on this point is obtained by comparing the great shock at Kona, as given by the Rev. Mr. Williamson, with the time at which it was felt here as shown by Mr. Flitner's clock. Assuming that Mr. Williamson's watch was set to Honolulu time, we have an interval of 44 minutes for a distance of about 165 miles, and a velocity of nearly 12 miles a minute.

Mr. Mallet found the depth of the force which threw the Calabrian earthquake to be about five miles, and he believes that the maximum depth of any earthquake impulse on our planet cannot exceed 33½ miles.

It is to be hoped that accurate observation will be made on the depressions, upheavals, fissures and displacements of the ground, that have taken place in the district of Ka-u, which may serve to throw light on the depth, direction, &c., of that tremendous force which as we have seen Mauna Loa from its summit to near its southern base.

The earth flow near Keaiwa was a phenomenon as beautiful as it was novel. There are some different opinions as to its character, some considering it merely an incident of the earthquake, a land-slide propelled by no other force than that of gravity, while others consider it a real earth eruption, produced by an explosion of the gases

Porto Rico, in San Salvador, Central America, and on the 24th of last month in San Francisco, it seems to be more than an accidental coincidence.

The earthquake which destroyed Lisbon in 1755 was felt in Switzerland, on the coast of Sweden and in the West Indies. As to the nature of this mysterious sympathy between distant volcanic regions, we leave it for those better versed in geology to explain.

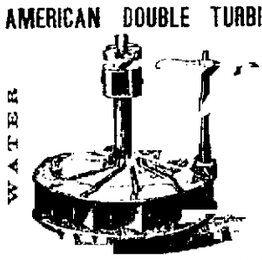
LEFFEL'S
AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE



THESE WHEELS, UNEQUALLED AND UNRIVALLED in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, many being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c., &c.

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby give notice that the so called "Shipley's Pacific Turbine Water Wheel" is a direct infringement and copy of the James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheel," and its manufacture and use is hereby prohibited. Any person or persons making using, constructing or vending said Water Wheels make themselves liable to heavy damages and penalties. Parties interested will take notice, for I will prosecute all infringements to the utmost extent of the law.

That all may know I mean what I say, and am not playing "bluff," I give the following extract from a legal opinion on this subject from one of the most eminent Patent Attorneys in the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27, 1868.

"MR. A. MYERS—In accordance with your request, we have examined the patents of Shipley on Water Wheels, and are clearly of the opinion that they both infringe the Leffel patents. In both of Shipley's Wheels he uses the upper and lower rims of buckets precisely as Leffel does, and in this he clearly infringes. The fact that Shipley has applied another series of buckets in addition as those used by Leffel, does not relieve him from the consequences of infringement at all. He has no right to use those two sets of buckets, whether alone or with a third, or any other number of them added. It is a clear infringement. Respectfully yours,

DODGE & MUNN.

I hereby give notice that I will prosecute every infringement on my Patents, whether it is the maker, user, buyer or seller. Every infringement, whether our claims are used in whole or in part, will be prosecuted.

A. MYERS.

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET,
NEAR COMMERCIAL,
San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Also Diseases following early indiscretion, resulting in Nervousness, Trembling, Weak Eyes, Pains in the Back, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Hair, Pimples on the Face, Blotches on the Body and Limbs, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, Lassitude, Want of Energy, Failing Memory, Loss of Confidence, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Pain in the Side, Back, and Limbs, Sudden Flushes of Heat, Dizziness, Horrors of Disease, Consumption, Insanity, and many other diseases that lead their victims to premature graves.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from ignorantly treating the disease? Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and then ask them to be candid in confessions, thereby fitting them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In the horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are not further deceived and led to the grave. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who has within twelve the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be the reference ever so full and satisfactory, or even if you may feel led into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, so deplorably prevalent among youth, is followed by the most baneful effects. Almost unfailing to extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of mortal symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz.: Pallid countenance and dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, nodes like the resulting of leprosy, nightly shedding of chalky, gonorrheic albumen like lotus, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, stunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and sores on various parts, also on the face, forced stenches, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure Posted by the new and scientific mode of treating this disease. Which is certain to be effecting a quick and radical cure. If Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars for any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and peiterders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates plaster the country with their cards, headed "Private Medical Institute," "Dr. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became tolerably well to work at their trades. Some are three-time shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are impostors. There is no safety in trusting any of these until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
